I received a brief update and want to ensure you are kept apprised with whatever I can share.

The Crown finally completed cross-examination of our three representative plaintiffs, and our medical expert. Like any milestone in the legal realm, it arrived with a sizeable bill, so if you're inclined to send along an e-transfer (info@freetofly.ca) to help with costs, that would be much appreciated!

The next step will be an exchange of documents requested during cross-examinations, and we expect that to wrap up by the end of 2026. The Court should set the next steps toward our certification hearing once this is complete. I will certainly update you when we get more news on that front.

For those still unclear on the exact nature of the class action lawsuit and who wish to learn more or jump on board with their support, you can do so via the red banner top of our website.

Kind regards,

Greg
